Things are seldom what they seem, even when you think you know someone.

Long Blurb:

JT Sheppard is the last man standing in his family. That is, his father and brothers have fallen in love and married or are close to it; but, that's not for him. He's served his country in the Marines in Afghanistan and now it's his time to have fun and enjoy life, unencumbered. He finally has the chance to show his dad that he can design award-winning bikes, and he's determined to win the big showdown in Sturgis.

Kayden Leathers is a tough little gal with an entrepreneurial spirit and a zest for life, even though life hasn't always been her friend. Raising her little girl on her own and keeping her dad's bar running has become daily routine. Deciding to take her life in a different direction, she began developing her dream business; now all she needed was a little luck and a lot of help.

Kayden's ex has some rough friends and they want her dad's bar. Chasing away the clientele and putting her father in the hospital is just the beginning. JT wants to help Kayden, but in doing so finds out things aren't always what they seem. As JT and Kayden get to know each other, they realize they have more in common than either dreamed. But trouble lurks around every corner. Can love conquer all?

About the Author

Writing has been a desire my whole life. Once I found the courage to write, life changed for me in the most profound way. Bringing stories to readers that I'd enjoy reading and creating characters that are flawed, but lovable is such a joy.

When not writing, I'm with my family doing something fun. My husband, Gene, and I are bikers and enjoy riding to new locations, meeting new people and generally enjoying this fabulous country we live in.

I come from a family of veterans. My grandfather, father, brother, two sons, and one daughter-in-law are all veterans. Needless to say, I am proud to be an American and proud of the service my amazing family has given.
